Microsoft is hindering the competitiveness and quality of the computer industry. Since they have no real competition, they continue to make buggy software that requires continuous upgrades and support. They do not pay attention to security issues since everyone has to buy their garbage software anyways. Companies and citizens are being backed into a corner with no way out. Our nation's entire information structure is at risk. please break up microsoft into three companies so that each will have to stand upon their own products rather than expecting and forcing individuals to to buy into the microsoft lie.
